

GILPIN, Anthony Simpson, 461, Lone Pine
Source 138, page 52, notes 3

25 April 1915

“Horror piled on horror.

‘We settled down to a musketry duel. The men began to get hit. A terrible cry was wrenched from the bravest as the nickel demon ripped through flesh, bone and sinew...Alec Gilpin had been fatally wounded in the stomach, all day he begged to be shot.’”